Mines and Mining.

In 1901 41,000,000 lbs. of zinc were exported.

W. S. Lowery, the mining man of Salem, was in the city Tuesday.

Average price of lead in 1902 was $16.10 per ton. In 1903 it was $15.10, an increase of $1.00 per ton.

The output of zinc in the United States is consumed one-fourth for zinc oxide for paint, and three-fourths for metallic zinc.

G. C. Terry, of room 19, Cole Building, Nashville, Tenn., is interested in the field. Parties having fluor spar prospects for sale should correspond with him.

The Kentucky Fluor Spar Company shipped over half a million pounds this week of spar. Pretty good showing for this season of the year, or any other season, for that matter.

Blue & Nunn have struck a fine vein on the "9 acre" lot near the Buckeye corner of the Crittenden Springs tract. This bids fair to be one of the best mines in the county.

A great deal of zinc is used in all electrical contrivances, and this business is growing all over the world, and therefore the consumption is gradually increasing for this purpose.

The Mountain Lead, Zinc, and Fluor spar company are negotiating for machinery and will put in a separating plant at the mine near Crittenden Springs. They also may acquire more territory in the district.

One district in the United States produced in 1903, 169,745,860 lbs. zinc of a value of $1,920,525; and same district produced 57,311,980 lbs. lead valued at $1,550,870. Can't our own do as well if developed?

Our Repton correspondent says:

"Still great excitement over mineral matters in this section.

Tom Henry has uncovered a large amount of zinc but has not yet discovered the vein. Field Crider has the same indications that Henry has. There is no doubt but what we have one of the richest veins of zinc in the county.

IT IS A MATTER OF HEALTH

ROYAL

BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure
THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

Blue & Nunn have a seven foot vein of lead and zinc in their 50 foot shaft on the Columbia vein.

The Columbia Mining Co., is loading another car of lead this week. Lead has advanced $6.00 in the past week.

The Pittsburgh Fluor Spar Mining Co., is still mining on the E. E. Hodge farm. They have two shafts with fine prospects.

The Morganfield Mining Co., is employing hands to develop the mineral on the farm of I. N. McCormick near Mattoon.

Marion and Robert Samuels are prospecting for mineral on their farm near Hood's Smith. They are pleased with their prospect.

The Kentucky Fluor Spar Co., will start up all their mines the 15 of next month, and will go about same gait they did last summer—about 2000 tons per month.

The Marion Zinc Co., has not got its mill in operation yet at the Riley mines. We understand they are going to put in a wire tramway to bring their product to Crayneville.

We understand that the Marion Mineral Co., will have to haul water from the Lucile Mining Co. mine to feed their big pump at the Ashbridge mine or take it out and put in a smaller one.

Will Brown, better known as "Black Hawk", is sinking a shaft for D. C. Roberts & Son, on Ed Flannery's farm. They have uncovered a fine vein of fluor spar which carries about 25 per cent lead.

The Mountain Lead, Zinc and Fluor Spar Co., mining on R. W. Wilson's land near Crittenden Springs have a shaft down 48 feet with very rich mineral in the bottom, and gradually getting better the deeper they go.

Mr. A. D. Noe and others from Morganfield, have bought the Cox & Love leases from the Western Kentucky Mining Co. They have already made a contract to have 8000 tons of lead, zinc and spar mined for 50 cents per ton.

Henry Walker, the Superintendent of the Glendale Mining Co., tells us his shaft is down 75 feet. He will start drifting next week to cut his vein. The company will put in machinery sufficient to get out from 50 to 75 tons of lead and zinc per day.

The Deer Creek Mining Co., has made a contract with W. B. White to sink their shaft 50 feet deeper. This will make the shaft 125 feet deep. At this depth the company will start levels and over head stoping on the seven foot vein of zinc they have already out.

Of all the zinc used in the United States for metallic zinc about 52 per cent, or 82,300 tons is used for galvanizing purposes; 23 per cent, or 36,800 tons in brass foundries; 16 per cent, or 25,600 tons for sheet zinc; 2 per cent, or 3,200 tons for silverizing lead; 1 per cent, or 1,600 tons for gold extraction; 3 per cent, or 4,800 tons for monumental purposes.

Finley P. Dunne, known to the reading world as Mr. Dooley, spent several months in southern Oregon some years ago, looking for fortune in the shape of a gold mine. A dispatch from Grant's Pass says that he located a claim in the gold quartz belt of southern Oregon. Dunne and his partner made nothing by the venture, and departed discouraged, so far as gold mining was concerned. Dunne declared, "There was gold there, certainly, because we could not find any." The claim is now proving a rich proposition having been adequately developed by a man coming into possession of it since Dunne abandoned the property.

Wonder if some of our own prospectors don't get weak-kneed and quit too soon. Mr. Uren says, "when you find mineral follow it up, even to China."

Within the last year valuable zinc deposits have been found in Livingston county. Fluor spar is a blossom of the zinc in this locality in certain mineral veins. The vein show to be true fissure, and the zinc shows to be twenty feet wide near the surface; with what little prospecting there has been done in this county, the ore cannot be excelled in any other locality in the United States. Another year of development work and we will have a thriving mining district.

The first man who paid any attention to the mineral business in the Salem valley was W. S. Lowery, who helped to organize the first stock company that operated in 1898, in this valley; this company was organized at Wheeling, W. Va., with him as manager.

The veins of this district are not only remarkable for the manner in which they occur but for the small amount of secondary mineral found within the walls. Taken singly they are narrow; collectively or in systems they sometimes make immense ore bodies.

The highest value usually occurs nearest the walls, and value decreases as distance from the wall increases; when the veins occur in a system with parallel fractures intervening, the water has free access and the whole mass becomes changed and is often mined and shipped for ore.

Taken as a whole the veins of the district may be properly classed as fissure veins with impregnated ore bodies associated. I find out by experiment and development work on a number of veins in Western Kentucky that these ore bodies are not continuous but may be said to occur in the form of segregated bodies or chutes, without form or defined limit; the conditions demand more thorough and systematic cross-cutting than is common to the work of the district.

When two vein systems intersect large ore bodies or chimneys often occur, these as a rule are defined in limit by some of the cross veins. The included mineral fractured by the first vein system when cut by the second system, may be described as being shattered, the chemical waters are thereby given free and easy access and the mass is completely changed, and sometimes largely kaolinized.

The permanency of this district as a mining camp was in the early days often questioned, but developments of the last two years has removed that from the minds of the most skeptical. The ore bodies of the mines wholly within the outlying line have proven persistent with depth.

OUR FRANKFORT LETTER.

FRANKFORT, KY., Feb. 22, 1904.

—DEAR PRESS: About 700 bills have so far been poured into the legislative hopper, while not exceeding a score have become laws, but it is proper to state in this connection that the most important measures were given first consideration.

The last "bill day" resulted in the introduction of a score of bills and the house to meet this increasing mountain of labor voted two sessions daily until the rush is disposed of.

What was "booked" for the biggest fight resulted in a compromise. I refer to the battle waged between the doctors during the first half of the session, and it was during the discussion of this measure in the Senate that Senator Sam Dehaven, who is a brother of "our own" Bill Dehaven, made the remark at the expense of the doctors, that the "Allopaths, Homeopaths and Osteopaths, like the 'path of glory,' 'lead but to the grave.'"

We are pained to announce the death of Hon. Harry P. McDonald, a member from Louisville. He died on the 16th inst. after a brief illness, of pneumonia. He was one of the most useful members, loved and respected by all who had the good fortune to know him.

Hon. W. C. Clarke, of Paducah, familiarly known as "Uncle Bill," was carried home Thursday in a very hopeless condition. He was suffering with erysipelas of the face.

Senator J. E. Porter was accidentally shot in the leg by some one dropping a revolver on the floor of his room. It is hoped that he will soon be able to resume his seat in the senate, which he so ably filled last session, and which experience has enabled him to fill this session to the satisfaction of a constituency who appreciate conservatism, honesty and sobriety in the discharge of official duties.

Hon. Henry R. Lawrence has been presiding over the house during the absence of Speaker Brown. He had added much to his already great popularity by his impartiality and courtesy to the members in his rulings. Unless all signs fail that indicate anything in politics, Trigg county will furnish a candidate for speaker of the next house in the person of the above-named gentleman, who deserves the support that will come to him from every section of the state. Henry Lawrence is known to the writer by long and intimate association, to be patriotic, democratic to the core, and true as steel to his friends.

The house passed Hon. Carl Day's bill which prevents the co-education of the races in Berea college, the only institution of the kind in Kentucky where whites and blacks are allowed to be educated together.

Mr. Butler made the opening argument in favor of the bill, and the roll call showed only five negative votes. Seven Republicans voted Yes, five voted No, and ten refrained from voting.

Jim Rogers, of Christian in casting his vote for the bill, took occasion to say his presidential preference was buried in the person of the lamented Hanna, and boldly denounced his opposition to Roosevelt because of his stand on the race question.

The Byron bill compelling national banks to report to the state Board of Valuations and Assessment passed the senate after a spirited contest. It will have easy sailing in the house, and will turn $50,000 annually into the state

Treasury which has heretofore escaped taxation.

The term of the State Librarian has been extended to four years.

It seems that there will be no game laws enacted this session; there were very favorable chances at one time, but was killed by the proposal to appoint too many salaried wardens, etc.

Yours truly,
MARION F. POGUE.

In Memory of Jas. W. Parr.

James W. Parr, son of John D. and Martha Parr, was born March 12, 1868, died Jan. 1, 1904. He professed religion in his 14th year and joined the C. P. church at Fredonia, Ky., and always lived an exemplary life, had the confidence and friendship of all who knew him, as the "Golden Rule" is the motto of his life. He was raised on the farm and after attaining his majority went into business in Kelsey, but after a few years his health began to fail and he gave up his business, went to Hot Springs, Ark., and to Dawson Springs, Ky., and was not much improved and only a few days before his death he went to Evansville to be treated by physicians there, but did not survive the operation they performed but a few fleeting hours. Frequently during his afflictions, in conversation with his mother, he expressed a willingness to die when ever it was the will of his Creator to remove him from this world of sin and sorrow. He will be sadly missed by his relatives and friends and the entire community will be deprived of the power of his noble christian example. A FRIEND.

CARNAHAN—WHITE.

Married by Rev. T. A. Conway, at his residence, Wednesday, Feb. 17th, 1904, Samuel L. Carnahan, son of D. Carnahan, the merchant of Blackford, to Miss Minnie White, also of Blackford.

Attendants were Leonard Grady and Miss Bertha Carnahan.

Mr. G. W. Carnahan, of Blackford and W. C. Carnahan and wife of Marion were present; also Thos. Dollins and Lycurgus Travis.

SHEWMAKER-HOWERTON.

At the court house in Marion, on Thursday, Feb. 11, Ura Shewmaker and Miss Duke Howerton were united in marriage by Rev. E. B. Blackburn. Quite a number of their friends witnessed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Howerton, of Repton, and is quite popular. The groom is a young farmer and has bright prospects for the future. The writer joins their many friends in wishing them prosperity and happiness. X.

FREDONIA AND KELSEY.

Rev. Dickens was sick and unable to fill his appointment at the C. P. church, Sunday.

Mr. McGrath, our mining man, who has been sick, is much better. The machinery will probably be placed here this week for the new stove mill.

Smith Lowery and Mrs. Higgins were in Marion one day last week.

Prof. H. W. Davis and family were on the sick list last week.

W. E. Cox and wife spent Sunday with relatives in Marion.

For bargains in groceries, hardware, etc., see S. C. Bennett & Son.

LEVIAS.

Mesdames Jane Settles, J. B. Carter and E. B. Franklin are on the sick list.

Glad Threlkeld, our hustling sawmill man, has a contract with the Eagle Fluorspar company for a big bill of lumber, to be delivered at the Cullen mine.

Eld G. S. Summers and wife are visiting in Sturgis. Their son John is there quite sick.

J. W. Hudson, of Salem, visited W. H. LaRue and family Sunday.

Wanted, a good, trusty farm hand. Apply to R. A. LaRue at once.

Levias is advancing. A shingle, shave and shampoo at the new city hall, W. J. Davenport proprietor.

Willie Beard has gone to Louis; he has a position there as a motorman. Success to you, Willie, we want to ride with you when we come to the world's fair.

There are several cases of Roseola in this section; none serious as yet.

L. A. LaRue and family of Sheridan visited relatives here last week.

DYOUSBURG.

Rev. John Fralick, of the Salem circuit, filled his appointment here Sunday.

Rev. Jas. Sills will fill his appointment at the Baptist church, Feb. 26 and 27.

Miss Ellen Pensly, of Hopkinsville, has an interesting class in typewriting and stenography in Dycusburg, and is giving lessons at her room at the residence of M. B. Charles. She is very proficient, and affords our young people an opportunity of learning this art on very reasonable terms.

Mr. Hall and family took passage on the steamer Buttort, Sunday, en route to Illinois, where they will make their future home.

Mesdames Lacie Yeats and Joe Cooksey were called to Paducah last week by the death of Mr. Jno. Perkins. On their return they were accompanied by their sister Mrs. Mollie Perkins, who will spend some time here with her mother and other relatives.

Tom Mitchell has again secured the mail route from Dycusburg to Kuttawa, at a salary of $350 per year. The contract is for four years and goes into effect in July.

Quarterly meeting for Salem Circuit will be held at Dycusburg Methodist church, March 19 and 20. Rev. Elgin, presiding elder of Princeton district, will deliver four sermons during the meeting.

R. Wells is sick with lagrippe. The town board granted saloon license to Pate Wells, who bought out Bennett and Griffin.

Miss Lillie Graves who has been to Paducah, for treatment for a sprained foot, has returned home, but is unable to return to school at St. Vincent.

TOLU.

Miss Etta Stone is yet confined to her bed, having been on the sick list three weeks.

Miss Dora Wright and Mr. Harry Jones were married at Sheridan Feb. 17th, W. R. Gibbs officiating. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Wright, and is very popular among the young folks of Tolu and vicinity, and the bridegroom is one among Tolu's most popular young men. Best wishes for the young couple.

Felix Coy, and Kay Kevil, of Marion were here Wednesday and Thursday surveying on Hurricane says.

We understand that a certain wedding has been postponed for five months.

J. J. Thomas, wife and daughter, have been sick for several days, and W. H. Beard of this place was mail carrier during the illness of Mr. Thomas.

GENERAL NEWS.

George A. Castor, Republican, has defeated Samuel J. Randall, Democrat, for Congress in the Third district of Pennsylvania.

Turkey is said to be seriously thinking of declaring war on Bulgaria while Russia is busy with the Japs, with the object of recovering Southern Roumania.

An American warship has bombarded the Dominican insurgents and landed marines. High authority at Washington announces the administration's purpose to annex Santa Domingo.

A. L. Wilson, better known as "Dixie" Wilson, a traveling man of widespread reputation in the South, cut his throat from ear to ear with a razor at Hotel Lagomarsina, Paducah.

A Turkish war is near at hand that may involve all Europe. The Sultan has sent a note to the powers and is preparing to invade Bulgaria. The Albanians have risen and are besieging a force of 2,500 Turks.

Work was begun Feb. 16 at the World's Fair grounds on the erection of the Siamese national pavilion. This structure will be a reproduction of a Siamese temple, erected by the Department of Public Works at Bangkok, Siam, and will cost $35,000. Work was also begun the same day on the Austrian pavilion.

The weighing of the mails of the Louisville contract section has begun, and for thirty consecutive working days or more the mails carried on every train out of Louisville and throughout the South will be weighed. On the register of the weighing will depend the amounts paid each of the railroads which carry mail in the section. Nearly fifty clerks have been added to the force in Louisville, and will assist the regular clerks in weighing the mails.

The report of the latest Japanese victory indicates that Russia now has only one ship out of the original twenty comprising the Port Arthur fleet.

A dispatch from Columbia, Ky., says: About six months ago Dr. R. Goldstein, an optician of Louisville, came here for the practice of his profession. While here he was charged with reprehensible conduct and at the circuit court following he was indicted for detaining a woman against her will.

A short time after the true bill was found Dr. Goldstein was arrested at Glasgow on a bench warrant sent from the Adair circuit court. He gave bond in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the present term, last Thursday being the day set for his trial. The doctor arrived here in due time and remained here until Wednesday night when he left, going in the direction of Greensburg. The case was called and the bond forfeited. Persons who conversed with Goldstein while here are satisfied that he did not realize the magnitude of his crime until a few hours before he took his departure. It is our understanding that the gentlemen of Glasgow who are on his bond are trying to locate him. It is the general opinion here that if he had gone to trial he would have been given a term in the penitentiary.

Various guesses are made as to Senator Hanna's fortune. The most conservative are willing to name $15,000,000. This is a subject however, which the Senator himself was not willing to discuss. One day a Cleveland newspaper man, who was on very close terms with him, asked of him what he was worth. "That, young man," he replied, is something I would not tell my wife."

Secretary Taft has sent to Congress an estimate amounting to about ten million dollars to be submitted to the engineer board for improvement of the Kaw river at Kansas City, so as to remove the possibility of disastrous floods.

End of Bitter Fight.

THE BALTIMORE SPIRIT.

It is impossible to exaggerate the destruction wrought by the fire which swept a large part of Baltimore out of existence a short time since. Unlike other great disasters of this kind, it was confined almost exclusively to the business heart of the city. Starting in the very center of the great dry goods district, the fire swept that away and hurried on to the banking and office sections, and before its awful fury the magnificent office buildings, supposed to be as fire-proof as human skill could make them, proved unable to stay its progress.

Broadly speaking, the business section is in ruins and must undergo a complete rebuilding. But despite the overwhelming loss and the destruction of long established business houses, Baltimore will fully measure up to the emergency. With a full realization of her burdens, she will meet the occasion with a strong heart, and an unconquerable energy.

Undismayed by the task of attempting to reconstruct her business interests, to rebuild her bank houses and business office buildings and to recoup the losses, she faces the future with a cheerful smile. With a kinship of every man, be he banker, merchant, mechanic or laborer, born in the fire that tested and tried men's souls, the people of the city will be more united, more energetic than ever before. You do not have to preach courage to the Baltimore man. Today he has it. Every latent power, every undeveloped talent, has been quickened into life and energy. They only need to tell the outside world that the amazing and unconquerable energy which brought the South from amid the wreck and ruin of war, of forty years ago will find its equal in the redemption of Baltimore from its present troubles.

An Early Riser.

A strong, healthy, active constitution depends largely on the condition of the liver. The famous little pills known as Dr. Williams' Little Early Risers not only cleanse the system but they strengthen the action of the liver and rebuild the tissues supporting that organ. Little Early Risers are easy to act, they never gripe and yet they are absolutely certain to produce results that are satisfactory in all cases. Sold by all druggists.

A NEW PAPER.

The Crittenden Record will soon appear at Marion. James E. Chittenden is putting in a fine new office and has bought the Republican and secured J. C. HELP FOR STARVING QUAIL.

Springfield, Mass., Feb. 17.—A unique relief expedition has been organized by the Springfield Fish and Game Protective Association, which has begun a systematic distribution of grain to starving quail in Western Massachusetts.

In marked contrast to the open winters of recent years, western Massachusetts has been covered with snow for two months. The seed pods of the weeds and grasses on which quail rely for food, are buried by the snow and game birds have been dying by the hundred. The situation is intensified by the continued low temperature.

The quail, which is one of the most difficult birds to domesticate ordinarily, seeks the seclusion of the underbrush. In its present straits, however, it has appeared in barnyards of farmers in search of food. A feeding hills woman reports that three quail came to her dooryard in a furnished condition. They were so weak that they made no attempt to escape and died soon after they were carried into the kitchen.

To alleviate the distress on the game birds, members of the association left the city laden with huckwheat mixed with bran, cracked corn, and other grains, which was taken to the feeding covers. By breaking out the ends of a barrel, receptacles were made in which the grain was left fairly well protected.

HOWES-RENNETT COMPANY

bring the whole pack howling to the rescue. Something told him to do as Long Hair ordered, so with scarcely a perceptible hesitation he scrambled down the bushy bank and slipped into the water, followed by Long Hair, who seized him by one arm when he began to swim and struck out with him into the boiling and tumbling current.

Beverley had always thought himself a master swimmer, but Long Hair showed him his mistake. It was a long, cold struggle, and when at last they reached the sloping bank on the other side Long Hair had fairly to lift his chilled and exhausted prisoner to the top.

"Ugh, cold!" he grunted, beginning to pound and rub Beverley's arms, legs and body. "Stake warm heap!"

All this he did with his right hand, holding the tomahawk in his left.

It was a strange, bewildering experience out of which the young man could not see in any direction far enough to give him a hint upon which to act. In a few minutes Long Hair jerked him to his feet and said:

"Go!"

It was just light enough to see that the order had a tomahawk to enforce it with. Long Hair indicated the direction and drove Beverley onward as fast as he could.

"Try run 'way, kill!" he kept repeating, while with his hand on the young man's shoulder he guided him from behind dexterously through the wood for some distance.

They had just emerged from a thick, et into an open space where the ground was comparatively dry. Overhead the stars were shining in dark clusters of silver and gold against a great, cavernous looking sky, here and there over run with swirling black clouds. Beverley shivered, not so much with cold as on account of the stress of excitement which amounted to nervous rigor.

Long Hair faced him and leaned toward him until his breathing was audible and his massive features were dimly outlined. A dragon of the darkness could not have been more repulsive.

"Ugh, friend!"

Beverley started when these words were followed by a sentence in an Indian dialect somewhat familiar to him, a dialect in which he had tried to talk with Long Hair during the day's march. The sentence, literally translated, was:

"Long Hair is friendly now. Will white man be friendly?"

Beverley heard, but the speech seemed to come out of vastness and hollow distance. He could not realize it fairly. He felt as if in a dream, far off somewhere in loneliness, with a big, shadowy form looming before him. He heard the chill wind in the thickets roundabout, and beyond Long Hair rose a wall of giant trees.

"Ugh, not understand?" the savage presently demanded in his broken English.

"Yes, yes," said Beverley, "I understand."

"Is the white man friendly now?" Long Hair then repeated in his own tongue with a certain insistence of manner and voice.

"Yes, friendly."

Long Hair fumbled in his pouch and took out Alice's locket, which he handed to Beverley. "White man love little girl?" he inquired in a tone that bordered upon tenderness, again speaking in Indian.

Beverley clutched the disk as soon as he saw it gleam in the starlight.

"White man going to have little girl for his squaw, eh?"

"Yes, yes," cried Beverley without hearing his own voice. He was trying to open the locket, but his hands were numb and trembling. When at last he did open it he could not see the child's face within, for now even the starlight was shut off by a scudding black cloud.

"Little girl saved Long Hair's life. Long Hair save white warrior for little girl."

A dignity which was almost noble accompanied these simple sentences. Long Hair stood proudly erect like a colossal statue in the darkness.

The great truth dawned upon Beverley that here was a characteristic act. He knew that an Indian rarely failed to repay a kindness or an injury, stroke for stroke, when opportunity offered.

"Wait here a little while," Long Hair said, and, without lingering for reply, turned away and disappeared in the wood. Beverley was free to run if he wished to, and the thought of the surge across his mind, but a restraining something like a hand laid upon him would not let his limbs move.

Down deep in his heart a calm voice seemed to be repeating Long Hair's Indian sentence, "Wait here a little while."

A few minutes later Long Hair returned bearing two guns. Beverley's and his own, the latter a superb weapon given him by Hamilton. He afterward explained that he had brought these, with their bullet pouches and powder horns, to a place of concealment near by before he awoke Beverley.

Delay could not be thought of. Long Hair explained briefly that he thought Beverley must go to Kaskaskia. He had come across the stream in the direction of Vincennes in order to set his warriors at fault. The stream must be crossed, he said, further down, and he would help Beverley a certain distance on his way, then leave him to shift for himself. He had a meager amount of parched corn and buffalo meat in his pouch which would stay hunger until they could kill some game. Now they must go.

They thing miles behind them before day dawned. Long Hair leading, Beverley pressing close at his heels. Most of the way led over flat prairies covered with water, and they therefore left no track by which they could be followed.

Late in the forenoon Long Hair killed a deer at the edge of a wood. Here they made a fire and cooked a supply which would last them for a day or two, and then on they went again. But we cannot follow them step by step.

When Long Hair at last took leave of Beverley the occasion had no ceremony. It was an abrupt, unemotional parting. The stalwart Indian simply said in his own dialect, pointing westward:

"Go that way two days. You will find your friends."

Itch—Ringworm.

E. T. Lucas, Wingo, Ky., writes, April 25th, 1902: "For 10 to 12 years I had been afflicted with a malady known as the 'itch.' The itching was most unbearable; I had tried for years to find relief, having tried all remedies I could hear of, besides a number of doctors. I wish to state that one single application of Ballard's Snow Liniment cured me completely and permanently. Since then I have used the Liniment on two separate occasions for ringworm and it cured me completely. 25c, 50c and $1.00 bottle. Sold by Woods & Orme."

WANTED—Special representative in this county and adjoining territories to represent and advertise an old established business house of solid financial standing. Salary $21 weekly, with expenses, advanced each Monday by check direct from headquarters. Horse and buggy furnished when necessary; position permanent. Address, Blew Bros., 600 Monon Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

Then without another look or word he turned about and stalked eastward at a marvelously rapid gait. In his mind he had a good tale to tell his warrior companions when he should find them again—how Beverley escaped that night and how he followed him a long, long chase only to lose him at last under the very guns of the fort at Kaskaskia. But before he reached his band an incident of some importance changed his story to a considerable degree. It chanced that he came upon Lieutenant Barlow, who in pursuit of game had lost his bearings and, far from his companions, was beating around quite bewildered in a watery solitude. Long Hair promptly murdered the poor fellow and scalped him with as little compunction as he would have skinned a rabbit, for he had a clever scheme in his head, a very audacious and outrageous scheme, by which he purposed to resoup to some extent the damages sustained by letting Beverley go.

Therefore when he rejoined his somewhat disheartened and demoralized band he showed them the scalp and gave them an eloquent account of how he tore it from Beverley's head after a long chase and a bloody hand to hand fight. They listened, believed and were satisfied.

Relief in One Minute.

One Minute Cough Cure gives relief in one minute, because it kills the microbe which tickles the mucous membrane, causing the cough, and at the same time clears the phlegm, draws out the inflammation and heals and soothes the affected parts. One Minute Cough Cure strengthens the lungs, wards off pneumonia and is a harmless and never failing cure in all curable cases of Coughs, Colds and Croup. One Minute Cough Cure is pleasant to take, harmless and good alike for young and old. Sold by Woods & Orme.

WANTS NO MORE WIDOWS.

A. A. Howlett, the Syracuse, N. Y., millionaire who lived eighty-two years and then became noted as a humorist by giving a birthday banquet to 131 widows, had another birthday recently, but this time the widows were conspicuously absent from the celebration programme.

"No," said Mr. Howlett, "I had all those women here last year, and I gave them a good time. This year I had a good time myself with the boys. As a result of my last year's celebration, for twelve months I have been kept busy receiving letters asking me to marry. The letters have poured in from every part of the earth I have ever heard of, except China. I have not received a proposal from a Chinese woman, but I may get it yet. I haven't read half the letters, and, of course, I don't pretend to answer them. They have come in all languages, and some have even sent English translations of their own letters. There are fifteen from Germany, dozens from England, a few from France, Russia and Ireland, and some from Africa, Holland, India, Italy and South America."

Death Penalty.

A little thing sometimes results in death. Thus a mere scratch, insignificant cuts or puny boils have paid the death penalty. It is wise to have Bucklen's Arnica Salve ever handy. It's the best Salve on earth and will prevent fatality, when Burns, Sores, Ulcers and Piles threaten. Only 25c, at Woods & Orme's drug store.

PLAIN AS LEMON'S BALD HEAD.

Col. Lemon, of the Mayfield Messenger, gets his wires crossed when he tries to tell the county in which Hickman and Fulton are located. Fulton is in Fulton county, Colonel. Hickman is the county seat of Fulton county, and Clinton is the county seat of Hickman county. A branch court at Fulton would still be in Fulton county, and Hickman would not be transferred to Hickman county, and Clinton would remain in Hickman county. While Fulton is in Fulton county, Hickman county will not have Fulton in it, and if Fulton county has two capitals neither one will be in Hickman county, because Clinton is the county seat of Hickman county. To illustrate—If Senator Geo. Hickman should visit Fulton and Senator John Fulton should sojourn at Hickman, Senator Fulton would have his mail sent to Fulton at Hickman, and Senator Hickman would have his letters sent to Fulton at Hickman. Having made this perfectly plain, the Mayfield editor will please tell us the age of Ann.

THE "HOW AND WHY."

Somewhere on Washington's birthday comes the recollection of school days and the celebration which always took place on this memorable twenty-second day of February. How hundreds of little throats were almost bursting over the singing of national songs which thrilled the patriotism of every American youth. The words are almost forgotten now, and the time is only recalled when a brass band comes out on an early spring day and plays the "Star Spangled Banner" for gathering crowds of street urchins, but occasionally there comes a dim recollection of something "teacher" told the children of how these songs were written or why they come to live. The story of how Mrs. Kipling rescued the "Recessional" from the waste basket is well known and will always be remembered with Kipling's masterpiece.

Some little stories of this kind cling to each of the immortal songs and it is well for every patriotic American to have some curiosity concerning the details of how and why some of them were written.

In 1798, when England had just begun her long struggle with France, and in the United States party spirit ran high; the "President's March" was the popular air. It was about this time that Joseph Hopkinson, a Philadelphia lawyer, was asked to write a song for a friend who was a singer. So the words of "Hail Columbia" were written and set to the music of the "President's March", merely to oblige a friend, with little idea of the great success and national fame it was to bring the author.

Another song written for a theatrical benefit was "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean."

One Saturday night, in the early days of negro minstrelsy, the proprietor of a theatre on lower Broadway, New York, called to one of his men, a Virginian, and told him to compose something for the performance on Monday night. Sunday was a rainy, gloomy day. The young Virginian was homesick. All day he kept saying to himself, "I wish I were down in Dixie." He repeated the words so often to himself that when night came "Dixie Land" had been written, and by the last of the week was being sung or whistled by every one in New York.

All are familiar with Francis Scott Key's imprisonment on the British warship during the bombardment of Fort M'Henry, Sept. 1814; of the long anxious night of waiting, of his great joy of beholding at the early dawn the stars and stripes still triumphantly waving over the American Fort. So the "Star Spangled Banner" was composed in the midst of an actual battle, above the roar of the ocean and booming of cannon.

A Cure For Eczema.

My baby had Eczema so bad that its head was a solid mass of scabs, and its hair all came out. I tried many remedies but none seemed to do any permanent good until I used De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve. The Eczema is cured, the scabs are gone and the little one's scalp is perfectly clean and healthy, and its hair is growing beautifully again. I cannot give too much praise to De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve.—Frank Farmer, Bluff City, Ky. In buying Witch Hazel Salve look out for counterfeits. DeWitt's is the original and the only one containing pure Witch Hazel. The name E. C. DeWitt & Co. is on every box. Sold by all druggists.

MR. DOLAN'S CARRIAGE.

Mr. Dolan, through the agency of butter and eggs, had reached that stage of prosperity where he was able to set up an establishment with a horse and carriage and no one begrudged him his success.

"But what's the reason your wife drives round in a carriage with the letter C on it?" inquired one of Mr. Dolan's friends. "You haven't changed your name, Terry?"

"Naw, man," said Mr. Dolan, gayly, "my name has stood me fifty years, and it'll last out me toime. But the carriage was a great bargain at second hand, and the C was on it. 'T would cost a bit to change it to a D, and I says, 'Mary Ann, 'D is a kind of a broad lute letter, while C is more delicate an ornamental,' I says. 'An' besides that it's the very next to D in the alphabet an' more than all,' I says, 'it stands for 'continted,' an' that's what I've Dolan that rides in that carriage will be so let it stand,' and Mary Ann agreed wid me."

Happy is he who, during the harvest time of youth, stores his mind with beautiful thoughts of the wise and the good. Then no matter how great his poverty, his soul will have an abundance of food to live upon in the winter of sickness and of old age.

Little self-denials, little honesties, little passing words of sympathy, little nameless acts of kindness, little silent victories over favorite temptations—these are the silent threads of gold which when woven together gleam out brightly in the pattern of life.—Canon Farrar.

Nature in spring, summer, autumn or winter is so beautiful and contains on every hand lessons for us which outdoor exercise enables us to see and enjoy much more than confinement indoors.

"A man is apt to be nearer to God when he is out-of-doors than when he is in doors."

Russia has announced that she will not participate in the World's Fair at St. Louis, and will have no display there. This news coming just as it does at the junction of Japanese victories in the far east, would make one think that probably the bear has all she can attend to at home, and in her colonies. The announcement is significant, at least.

If Hon. Ollie M. James—Our Ollie—continues in congress four or five terms, mark our prediction he will be Speaker of the House, and take rank along with such men as Clay, Breckinridge, Boyd, Burnett, Carlisle and other great Kentuckians who have left their impress on national politics.—Smithland Banner.

Sh! Speak easy! Not so loud! Don't you know every one of these old skates are con founded g o l d h n o s.—Register.

Gov. Beckham has allowed the new school book bill to become a law without his signature. This looks as if our Governor was lacking in backbone somewhat. If that bill was vicious, he should have vetoed it. If it was a good bill he should have signed it. The Governor is our public guardian, and we all look to him to protect us against vicious legislation.—Fulton Commercial.

Poverty never spoils a good man but prosperity often does. How many of us know this from personal experience? My young friends you should be very careful if prosperity is knocking at your door. Don't let the dollar fly away from you. Each one has wings and will fly away if you are careless. If you take care of the pennies, and have done so from your youth, the dollars will usually take care of themselves.

Ledbetter Bros have decided to erect a large grain elevator at their mills here at a cost of about $5,000. They have long needed this to handle their grain and it will add considerably to the looks and value of their mills. Work will begin as soon as material can be obtained.—Independent.

Senator J. E. Porter, of Webster county, met with a painful accident at his boarding house by the discharge of a pistol. The bullet penetrated the right leg just below the knee, making a flesh wound. The wound is not serious and he will be out in a few days. The pistol fell from a table to the floor, causing its discharge.

RODNEY.

We are getting some of the weather Bro Hicks promised us.

There is a good deal of sickness. Lagrippe seems to be the chief illness.

Geo. Culley, formerly of the Bells Mines community, died last Feb. 12, 1904. Robert has been ill for the past three months with bronchial affection. The last week of January he was attacked with the measles and never recovered from the effects. He professed faith in Christ and bore his sufferings patiently, and died praising the Lord. His remains were taken to Dycusburg and interred by his mother, Father, brother, stepmother, two half sisters and one half brother, are left to mourn his absence, together with many friends.

Mrs. Mollie Hurley, wife of Jno Hurley, after suffering two weeks pneumonia, passed from this life Feb. 12, 1904. Mrs. Hurley professed faith in Christ at the age of sixteen years, united with the Pinckneyville Baptist church and lived a consistent member of the same church until her death. She leaves a husband, four daughters, one brother, and two sisters. The eldest daughter, Mrs. O. E. Lear, Mrs. W. B. Champion, Misses Mug and Lula, all reside here in town; her brother, J. V. Watkins, of this place, Mrs. John S. Clark here and Mrs. Maggie McElhenny, of Paducah, and quite a number of cousins and friends to mourn her loss. Rev. Franks conducted the funeral exercises.

Earl Cook, of Repton, was here Saturday. His father has recently moved from Wheatcroft to the Bradburn farm.

F. E. Davis will begin his school at Baker March 1st.

C. M. Clift has the grip.

The Press of last week aptly illustrated the present condition of Crittenden county roads that is what we would like to see more of—object lessons for the public roads.

PINKNEYVILLE.

Miss Ella Martin is confined to her room with colic.

Mrs. Della Sparkman has not recovered from the effects of the measles.

Miss Alice Champion has an attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Thomas Rinkley has been ill since her return from visiting relatives in Crittenden county.

Mrs. Sallie Deboe is visiting her son Philip and singing grandma's lullaby to the little Miss Deboe, who arrived Feb. 17.

Mrs. Maggie McElhenny, who visited here last week, has returned to her home in Paducah.

R. E. Moss, mate on steamer Inverness, visited his family this week.

Capt. Lynn Moss is pilot on the India Given now.

BARTON, ARK.

As I have seen no items from this place I have concluded to risk a trial. I will frankly admit that my curiosity was aroused when I scanned over a copy of items from Irina and found that the correspondent had written such curious items. That is think the poor ignorant creature does not know the difference between the facts and factory man. I wish we had him down here so we could put him in a glass cage for our visitors to look at.

W. N. Pittillow went to Helena Saturday.

Edward James made a flying visit to St. Louis last week.

C. McMaster and Fred Gilmore are calculating on going to Little Rock soon.

Unless the Irina correspondent reads the second chapter in the Book of Jude and finds a way out of that awful calamity, he must certainly be stung against the Holy Ghost.

The late storm did considerable damage to the timber in this section.

Who can beat Charles Pittillow for a timber man? The answer is returned nobody.

N. Smith was through here last week en route to Vicksburg.

So, hoping that if I do not see the Irina correspondent again on earth that we may meet among the redeemed, I am yours, etc.

DOMESTIC STRATEGY

The younger man had been complaining that he could not get his wife to read his letters. "I asked her to sew a button on that vest last night, and she hasn't touched it," he said. At this point the New York Press, the older man assumed the air of a patriot.

"Never ask a woman to mind anything," he said.

"What would you have me do?" asked the other.

"Simply do as I do," said the assured reply. "You haven't been married very long, and I think I can give you some suggestions. When I want a shirt mended I take it to my wife, flourish it round a little and say 'Where's that rag tag?'"

"What do you want of the rag tag?" asked his wife. Her suspicions are raised at once.

"I want to throw the shirt away, it's worn out," I say, with a few more flourishes.

"Let me see that shirt," my wife says then. "Now, John, hand it to me at once."

"Of course I pass it over, and she examines it. 'Why, John Taylor,' she is sure to say, 'I never knew such extravagance! This is a perfectly good shirt. All it needs is ' And then she mends it."

Frank M. Doss is quite sick at his home in East Marion. He is suffering still with his ear besides other ailments.

John D. Parr, of Freshburg, was a caller at the Press office this week. He is hale and hearty and was in a good humor.

Dr. Immer will give 3 treatments free. Any Disease. See him.

Mrs. Wheeler, residing on the Bonney farm near Sheridan, died Saturday of consumption, and was buried at the Lake graveyard Sunday.

The Illinois Central railroad will sell tickets to all California points for $14.25 during March. See Lou Johnson, City Passenger and Ticket Agent.

Dempsey N. Kemp, of Tunica, Miss., is here on a visit to his father-in-law, Noah Fox. He is prospering in his new home and will return there in the fall.

C. S. Knight, President of the Marion Zinc Company, reached the city Tuesday at noon to inspect the properties of the company of which he is the head.

Dr. Richard J. Morris went to Union Grove Saturday afternoon to spend the Sabbath with his mother and sister. He returned Sunday night and was at his office early Monday morning.

Miss Carrie Moore, who is attending college in Evansville, came home to attend the oratorical contest. Miss Carrie looks well and is evidently enjoying her stay in the present city.

Mrs. J. E. Dean is convalescent. She has been quite sick at her mother's home in this city for a month past, and her friends are glad to note her improvement.

J. Houston Orme and Levi Cook returned from New Orleans Sunday afternoon where they attended the Mardi Gras festivities. They went to Hot Springs, Ark., also. Both gentlemen report a very enjoyable trip.

The 10th of March is positively my last day to make photographs in Marion. Don't wait until the last day as I may be so crowded that I may be unable to wait on you. Come at once and get pictures as fine as you can get in any city.

The Christian church has secured the services of Eld. H. L. McDonald, an eminent and scholarly divine, and he will conduct services on the second and third Sundays in each month. He conducted services Sunday at 11 a. m., and 7 p. m., to good audiences and made a fine impression.

Thos. Clifton, of the great dry goods firm on the Masonic corner in St. Louis, Mo., will make selections for the firm from the mammoth stocks there to supply their growing trade. Clifton's progressive ideas in business have grown to be a by word in the trade all over the country.

Walter Travis, son of Frank Travis, is very sick in Louisville, where he went to attend the Hospital College. Recently he took the measles and apparently recovered. He took cold however and had a serious relapse which developed into pneumonia, and now he is in a critical condition. His father has been notified and has gone to his side.

MRS. HAYNES' RECEPTION

The reception given by Mrs. R. F. Haynes, on Wednesday afternoon, February 17th, from 4 to 6 o'clock, at her home on North College Street, was one of the most enjoyable and delightful events of the season.

Mrs. Haynes has that rare faculty of entertaining that seems to be inherent in our older Southern families. Invitations to her "At Home," whether "Small and Early" or to the more elaborate functions occasionally given by her, are events our society people always look forward to with genuine pleasure. The rooms were tastefully and beautifully decorated with cornucopias. Miss Eliza Pickens presided at the punch bowl.

The reception was given in honor of Mrs. John Tonkin, recently of British Columbia, and Mr. Jesse York Lillie, the talented leader, of Franklin, Tenn. Mrs. Tonkin, Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Sayre assisted Mrs. Haynes in receiving the guests. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather most of the guests had arrived by 4 o'clock, and the parlors were filled with their merry voices. After a social hour, some contests were given by the hostess. The first was a "Wiggling" contest. Each guest was provided with a piece of cardboard upon which a curved line had been made with a pencil, and this they were to use in drawing some pictures by continuing it. It was amusing and interesting to see the various objects drawn by the different guests—hats, elephants, faces, birds, ovals, tents, snakes, whips, mountains, chicks, etc. The judges awarded the prize to Miss Ina Woods, her picture being that of a bird, and which showed the talent of a real artist.

The next contest was of a literary nature, and one that required considerable knowledge of history and fiction. Mrs. Jesse York Lillie received the prize in this contest.

At 5 o'clock elegant refreshments—salads, olives, sandwiches, cream and coffee, were served. The "Angels Food" was, indeed, food for the Gods, being most delicious. During this hour, Mrs. Sidney Marshall Jenkins rendered some of her charming music. The pleasure of the evening will long be remembered by each guest.

Those present were, Mesdames John Tonkin, Jesse York Lillie, H. H. Sayre, Charles Evans, Chas. Moore, T. H. Cochran, C. S. Nunn, Gus Taylor, Hugh Hurley, S. M. Jenkins, G. C. Gray, J. W. Blue, Jas. Travis, J. W. Wilson, Sidney Dupuy, R. L. Moore, Tucker, Lou Johnson, Misses Ina and Lena Woods, Eliza Pickens and Nellie Walker.

Peter Rowlett Dead.

Peter Rowlett died Sunday night at his home in this city of consumption, aged forty-one years. He was a native of Western Kentucky, but had lived here a few years. He leaves a wife, two sons and one daughter. His wife, before her marriage, was Miss Rupard, a daughter of Rev. Wm. Rupard. The remains will be interred to-day in the Rupard family graveyard, services at the grave by Rev. J. R. Savage—Winchester Democrat.

Mr. Rowlett's first wife was Miss Lizzie Flannery, of this county, a sister of R. L. Flannery, the insurance man. Mr. Rowlett was deaf and dumb, and his marriage to Miss Flannery, who was likewise afflicted, will be remembered by the people of Marion and the county. One of the sons he left was her child, a bright and interesting boy of 10 years who will now make his home here with his uncle, R. L. Flannery.

Sam Gugenheim went to St. Louis Sunday to purchase spring goods. W. B. Vandel followed Monday. As they are interested in a store at Salem, and one at Blackford, besides the largest one here, it makes them large buyers and enables them to get prices accordingly low. The public have learned to appreciate this firm very highly.

Henry Stone, wife and little daughter, Irene, left Tuesday evening for Pomona, California. They will stop first with Mr. and Mrs. Al Witherspoon there, and afterward visit other places in the Golden Gate State. Mrs. Stone hopes to be benefitted by the change in climate; such not proving to be the case they may return to Marion in the summer or fall. Many friends regret the necessity for their departure and wish them "bon voyage."

The ladies are all looking forward to the new millinery establishment that will be in Marion this spring, managed by Mesdames Love and Drennon. They already have an extensive order from Cincinnati, and have been fortunate enough to secure Miss Hurley, one of Marion's brightest and best young ladies who is known throughout the county as an experienced and up-to-date trimmer. She is now in the city and will remain there several more weeks, catching new ideas and hunting new creations in millinery. Love & Drennon.

NOTICE.

BROWN-VANHOOSER

Married at the home of the bride's parents, Wednesday evening, February 17, 1904, by Rev. F. L. Atwood, Mr. Will Brown and Miss Leona Vanhooser, Mr. Lewis McConnell and Miss Dora Brown being the attending couple. After the ceremony an elegant supper was served, being followed by music by Jay Brown, Nat Sutton and others. The groom is a prosperous farmer of the Shady Grove neighborhood, and the bride is the pretty daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Vanhooser. They received many nice presents.

SPRINGER-TABER.

At the residence of the bride's father, near the flourishing little mill town of Deering, Mo., on February 11th, Mr. Ernest Springer and Miss Ida Taber were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony, Esq. John D. Dills, officiating.

Mr. Springer lived in the northern section of old Crittendon county in his boyhood days, some two miles from Mattoon, and is doubtless well remembered by his old chums.

The affair was a quiet one, and as soon as the nuptials were over the couple went over to Seldom Seen, where they, together with a few invited friends, partook of a sumptuous dinner. Mr. Springer's father removed from Crittendon to Henderson county a few years ago, and at present resides in the city of Henderson. Murry Gilson was the only relative of Springer's present at the festivities. We wish the couple long life and much happiness.

ORATORICAL CONTEST.

The Contest Was One of the Most Brilliant in the History of the School.

Monday evening the elite of Marion society gathered in the opera house, as is their custom annually, to hear the orations of five of her bright boys and girls. The weather was unfavorable and the roads bad, but that did not prevent the people turning out on such an important occasion. The house was full to overflowing. The services were opened with prayer by Rev. T. V. Joiner, after which the high school choir favored the audience with one of the national anthems.

The first oration of the evening, "The Making of the Flag," by Miss Hilda Schwab, was greeted by cheers and the audience showed great enthusiasm and many predicted that she would win the medal. She was the recipient of many cards and beautiful flowers. That the young lady acquitted herself with great credit stands uncontradicted.

The second oration on the list was, "America's Outlook," and Virgil Y. Moore was given this subject. Of course many wagers were offered from the start on him by his admirers, and they were in the majority, too. Virgil had a reputation already as an orator and scholar of more than ordinary ability, and it was prophesied after he finished that his speech could not be excelled, and how well his friends surmised was proven later by the decision of the judges in his favor. We are informed that the decision was unanimous.

The song that followed by the high school choir was, "My Own Native Land," and was well rendered.

The third contestant in this arena of oratory was Henry Wadlington on, "The Day we Celebrate," a glorious subject and well handled. The judges must have indeed felt it a hard task and an unpleasant duty to choose a winner for second prize, and not name him for the honor, for his effort was indeed commendable and he deserved all the cards and flowers he received.

When the fourth speech was called and the bright and beautiful little daughter of Ayers Hard stepped gracefully to the center of the stage, her very manner and appearance elicited friends for her by the score, and when she had completed her oration on "Putnam and His Plow," the encore she received would have made a Queen proud. She acquitted herself admirably and displayed talents that will be a blessing and advantage to her throughout life. No one who heard her, not even her rivals, begrudged her the prize she won.

The choir then favored the audience with, "Onward to Victory," evidently inspired by the speech just made.

The old saying, "the first shall be last and the last shall be first," came near realization when Cleveland Wolf, the fifth of the speakers, delivered, in a style and manner quite easy and graceful, his peroration on "The Man Whose Defeats Were Victories." Grover Cleveland never did as well at speech making in his life as his namesake did Monday night. His delivery was quiet and masterly, his voice well modulated, his jests just right and most appropriate, and his subject, "Nathiel Greene," one to enlist the sympathy and attention of the entire audience. Old Grover never had any more loyal friends in any convention than little Grover had in the audience which listened breathlessly to his effort Monday night. Of course many thought he ought to have had one of the prizes, but he was as smiling and uncomplaining as usual when his friends grasped his hand "after the hall was over."

All in all, the 7th oratorical contest was splendid. Marion has reason to be proud of it and the school which can turn out such material.

The music was excellent, and was furnished by cornetists Travis and Sutherland, accompanying Miss Sallie Woods, the gifted pianist. Even Bro Price pronounced the benediction more feelingly when he dismissed the delighted audience.

The Judges, who awarded the 1st medal to Virgil Moore and the 2d to Ethel Hard, were: Supt Cunningham, Cadiz; Conner, Lexington; Porter, Calhoun; Crider, Fredonia; Givens, Providence.

Consumption

Salt pork is a famous old-fashioned remedy for consumption. "Eat plenty of pork," was the advice to the consumptive 50 and 100 years ago.

Salt pork is good if a man can stomach it. The idea behind it is that fat is the food the consumptive needs most.

Scott's Emulsion is the modern method of feeding fat to the consumptive. Pork is too rough for sensitive stomachs. Scott's Emulsion is the most refined of fats, especially prepared for easy digestion.

Feeding him fat in this way, which is often the only way, is half the battle, but Scott's Emulsion does more than that. There is something about the combination of cod liver oil and hypophosphites in Scott's Emulsion that puts new life into the weak parts and has a special action on the diseased lungs.

PRIMARY CALLED.

Pursuant to a call from District Chairman, Mott Ayers, of Fulton, the county chairman of the First Congressional District met in Paducah Saturday, and passed the following resolutions: "Be it resolved by the Democratic Executive Committee of the First Congressional District of Kentucky that a primary election be called under the laws of the State of Kentucky to be held May 7th, 1904, for the purpose of naming a democratic candidate for congress in the First Congressional District of Kentucky to represent said district in the fifty-ninth congress of the United States. The Chairman of this committee, Col. Mott Ayers, is directed to ascertain the least possible expense to properly hold said primary as aforesaid, which expense for holding said primary shall be borne by the candidates before the same. The election officers shall be equally divided in pro rata throughout the district between said candidates. Those entitled to vote in said primary shall be those who supported the last democratic state ticket and such democratic youths as shall attain the age of twenty-one years by the November election.

Be it further resolved that, if by the 21st of March, 1904, it appears that there is but one candidate for said nomination before said primary who has announced his candidacy and paid his primary election to the Chairman, Col. Mott Ayers, then the said chairman hereof is empowered and it shall be his duty to declare said primary election off, and call the Congressional Executive Committee together in convention in no less time than five days thereafter for the purpose of nominating said primary for congress in that district.

Mr. P. S. Maxwell, Chairman of the Crittendon County Democratic Committee, represented this county.

Try for Health

223 South Peoria St., Chicago, Ill., Oct. 7, 1902.
Eight months ago I was so ill that I was compelled to lie or sit down nearly all the time. My stomach was so weak and upset that I could keep nothing on it and I vomited frequently. I could not urinate without great pain and I coughed so much that my throat and lungs were raw and sore. The doctors pronounced it Bright's disease and others said it was consumption. It mattered little to me what they called it and I had no desire to live. A sister visited me from St. Louis and asked me if I had ever tried Wine of Cardui. I told her I had not and she bought a bottle. I believe that it saved my life. I believe many women could save much suffering if they but knew of its value.

Longmaid Dwyer

Don't you want freedom from pain? Take Wine of Cardui and make one supreme effort to be well. You do not need to be a weak, helpless sufferer. You can have a woman's health and do a woman's work in life. Why not secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today?

Knights Hotel, furniture and fixtures, including the Grand Central was appraised yesterday by J. F. Fall, E. M. Taylor and W. H. Powers at $17,500. All will be sold by H. F. Oliver, the trustee, on the 17th of this month.—Fulton Ledger.

A few days ago a shooting affair occurred at the Southern hotel in Mayfield, at which time Jesse Cooley, manager of the big Oco-ley clay pits at Clay Switch, took three shots at Art Brand, the Mayfield buggy dealer, who in return shot five times at the other. It is said they fell out over a poker game. Cooley was not hit while one of his bullets went into the fleshy portion of Brand's arm, another lodged in his clothing, and the third grazed his head. Both men are well known. Cooley is married to a Paducah lady.

Mr Sam D. Green, of between the rivers, showed us quite a curiosity last week in the shape of a combined knife, fork and spoon. The spoon and fork opened from each end, just like the blades of pocket knives and there was place on the side for the knife to slip in. This was presented to him at Fort Donelson in 1863, by Calvin Tomson of Tennessee. He carried it with him from there all through the rest of the war, over the top of Missionary Ridge and into the Black Hills of South Dakota, and across the Yellowstone river. He says he has eaten buffalo meat with it, and has been close enough to an Indian to have stuck it in him, but the Indian was dead.—Cadiz Record.

Commissioner's Sale.

Mary L. Wyatt, et al., Plffs.
vs.
Jasper N. Wyatt, et al., Defts.
In equity.

By virtue of a judgment of the Circuit Court, rendered in the above entitled cause, at the October term, 1903, the undersigned will on THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1904.

Between the hours of 10 a. m. and 1 p. m., on or near the premises at the town of Fredonia, Caldwell county, Kentucky, proceed to expose to public sale to the highest bidder the following property, belonging to the heirs of John T. Wyatt and Mary J. Wyatt, deceased, and consisting of the following lands and lots in and near said town, and adjudged to be sold for division of the proceeds 1st. The dower land upon which Mary J. Wyatt lived, containing 120 3/4 acres adjoining the south side of the old part of Fredonia, and lying between the Dycusburg road on the West, and Kelley on the East, which was allotted to Mary J. Wyatt, for dower, by deed of December 21, 1892.

2d. A tract of about 187 acres known as the Leigh land, which adjoins said dower lands on the South, and was conveyed to Mary J. Wyatt and Jacob B. Cridler.

3rd. A tract of 67 acres, known as the Hawkins land, which was conveyed to Mary J. Wyatt by her children and her West of Fredonia, Kentucky, adjoining the Kirkpatrick land.

4th. A tract of land, 200 acres, on Livingston creek and known as the Creek farm, 50 acres of which was conveyed to Mary J. Wyatt by her children and 150 acres by the executors of Jacob B. Cridler, and adjoins the land of Jacob B. Cridler.

5th. A lot in the town of Fredonia, Kentucky, upon the West side of the Dycusburg road, known as the Mill lot, containing nearly two acres.

6th. A lot in said town adjoining said Mill lot on the North 154 feet long and about 104 wide.

7th. A lot in said town in the south east corner of Main street and the Dycusburg road, fronting about 300 feet on the South side of Main street and about 200 feet on the east side of the Dycusburg road.

The dower land and the Leigh tract to be sold subject to the right of way now occupied by the L. C. & E. Co.

The said lands will be divided into parcels, as may appear most advantageous to the sale, and the parcels will be offered separately, and afterwards the parcels comprising each tract will be offered as a whole, and the bid for the whole tract will be accepted if larger than the aggregate bids for the parcels of that tract.

The dower land and the adjoining Leigh tract must be sold separately and the Mill lot in Fredonia must be sold separately from the adjoining lot.

The court holds the right to set aside any sale made under said judgment for mere inadequacy of price, as well as for other reasons.

The purchasers will be required to give bond with good personal security for the amount of the purchase money. The Master Commissioner, payable to the Master Commissioner, bearing 5 per cent. interest from date until paid, having the effect of a judgment or replevin bond, on which execution may issue at maturity, with a lien retained for payment thereof.

Each bond is to stipulate that upon failure of the purchaser to pay any installment when due, all of his bonds shall then become due, and that the property purchased by him may then again be sold to satisfy his bonds.

Said lands will be sold on a credit of one, two and three years.

Attorney—P. H. Darby

JUST KEEP ON KEEPIN' ON.

If the day looks kinder gloomy,
An' your chances kinder slim;
If the situation's puzzlin',
An' the prospects awful grim,
An' perplexities keep pressin',
Till all hope is nearly gone,
Just bristle up an' grit your teeth,
An' keep on keepin' on.

Fussin' never wins a fight,
An' frettin' never pays;
There ain't no good of broodin' in
These pessimistic ways.
Smile just kinder cheerfully
When hope is nearly gone,
An' bristle up an' grit your teeth,
An' keep on keepin' on.

There ain't no use in growin'
An' grumblin' all the time
When music's ringin' everywhere
An' everythin's a rhyme.
Just keep on smilin' cheerfully
If hope is nearly gone,
An' bristle up an' grit your teeth,
An' keep on keepin' on.

SHOT HIS BROTHER

Fort Dodge, Ia., Feb. 21.—"Marshall shoot me," asked three-year-old Leo Holder. "No I won't," replied his four-year-old brother, who held a revolver in his hand. The second request by the younger brother was complied with and the ball lodged at the base of the skull. Death was instantaneous.

H. E. Holder, the father, left his revolver between the mattress of his bed and the older boy secured it. The younger child saw him get it and playfully asked him to shoot. The mother is almost crazed with grief.

Last week's puzzle: What time of day was Adam born? Answer: Just before Eve.

First correct answer was received from James C. Loyd, Fredonia. Other correct answers from Reba Hill, Willie Fritts, Joanna Rankin, Malcolm Dollar, Mamie Love, Emmett Clifton, Rhea Love, Mamie Fritts, Mattie Shaw, Bernice Ward, Odie Maynard, and Ruth Shaw, all of Marion, and Allie Whitl, Frances Sylvan Bigham, Craynoville, and Robbie Gibb, Sheridan. Other good answers: First hour of the day; Fred Gibbs, Sheridan; In the morning (of creation); Mildred Rankin, Marion; Not born, but created on the sixth day of creation, Nona Dollins, Tribune.

BY WAY OF CHICAGO.

A pupil of one of the public schools in Chicago sends this communication:

Dear Sir: In our school this morning an amusing dialogue took place. A primary teacher of Chicago, wishing to impress upon her pupils the necessity of greater quiet, said: "I am a great deal larger than any of you, yet I don't make any noise when I walk round the room."

"Perhaps," remarked little seven-year-old Kenneth, "you don't wear shoes."

"Oh, yes, I do," quickly replied the teacher; just look. Did you ever see any larger than mine?"

Kenneth surveyed them carefully. "Yes," he replied slowly, "once—in a show."—Harper's Weekly.

A DISCRIMINATING COW.

The young woman who was boarding at the farmhouse expressed to the farmer, says the Chicago News, her anxiety at the savage way in which the cow regarded her.

It must be on account of that red waist you've got on, miss," answered the farmer.

"Dear me!" exclaimed the girl. "Of course, it's out of fashion, but I had no idea a country cow would notice it."

"What's the matter with the music? The orchestra doesn't hang together." "Yes, they do hang together." "Well, if that's the best music they can make, I certainly hope they all will hang together."

An Irishman and Dutchman, in fighting, agreed to do so in fair fashion. "The first one havin' enough," said the Irishman, "must say 'sufficient.'" After two hours of knocking each other down the Irishman cries "Sufficient!" "I've been trying to think of that word for the last half hour," panted the Dutchman.

"Brother had the chicken pox and they kept him locked up in the hen house."

"Why?"

"To keep him from breaking out."

"Gus hasn't slept for seven days."

"Isn't that a shame?"

"Oh, no; he slept at nights."

OUR FIRST PRIZE STORY.

CRUMBS AND COWS.

The family had received a letter from friends in the West, recounting the struggles in a new country, the slow clearing of the land, the illness of the father, and the mother's heavy burdens. But the mother wrote cheerily of the help her children had been to her. The eldest, a twelve-year-old girl, had milked two cows all winter. It seemed a wonderful record, as it was read in the case of a pleasant city home, and all the household discussed it.

A little later grandmother remarked, suggestively, to one of the children:

"Madeleine, dear, mother looks very tired since dinner; can't you go and brush up the crumbs in the dining room?"

But the little maiden was deep in a story book, and in no wise inclined for work. She pouted, and then, by way of excusing herself, said:

"I don't like to do such things. I'd be just as willing as anybody if I could do something big—like milking two cows."

There was a peal of laughter from the older members of the family, a teasing inquiry as to whether one cow wouldn't do to begin with, but Aunt Betty summed up the situation in her own crisp fashion:

"I think the millenium would soon be here if all the people in the world would begin doing the little things they can do instead of waiting for a chance to milk two cows."

OLLIE'S AMBITION.

Would Like to Become a United States Senator.

A leading and influential Democratic politician of Western Kentucky was at Lexington yesterday and in discussing the senatorial race for a successor to Senator Blackburn said:

"There is some interest being taken in the next Senatorial race in Western Kentucky, and there was a strong sentiment in our section for Gov. Beckham, but as he has positively refused to run there has been a great deal of talk favorable to Hon. Ollie James, the Congressman. Since his recent speech in the house and his splendid defense of the Kentucky democracy, the people have begun to talk of sending him to the upper house, where strong men like James are needed on the democratic side."

"His campaign in the State and his vigorous and eloquent speeches, have made him wonderfully popular with the people. During the exciting campaigns of 1900 and 1903, he was the campaign champion and close friend of Governor Beckham, with whom he has spoken in nearly every county of the State. James has never failed to answer his party's call, and whether a candidate himself or not, has gone wherever requested by the party committee, while others sulked or gave only a half hearted support to the ticket."

"The young men of the State will unanimously rally to his support and the older men will realize that James is the strongest man in the entire delegation at Washington today, and the ablest and most fearless defender of his state's honor and good name in either house of congress."

"Mark what I say, James is the next Senator from Kentucky, and the western part of the state, which gives the democratic majority is entitled to that recognition."—Lexington Democrat.

Perfect Confidence.

Where there used to be a feeling of uneasiness and worry in the household when a child showed symptoms of croup there is now perfect confidence. This is owing to the uniform success of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the treatment of that disease. Mrs. M. I. Harford, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of her experience in the use of that remedy says: "I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success. My child Garland is subject to severe attacks of croup and it always gives him prompt relief." For sale by Woods & Orme.

MECHANICSBURG.

[East Marion.]

Health is not good in this community.

Uncle Pat Woodlades is very ill with lagrippe, but we hope to hear of his recovery soon.

Mrs. Mattie Walker is on the sick list with lagrippe.

Mrs. Fannie Jennings and mother have moved into their new residence.

John Lamb is building a new barn.

Bro. John Arlack is building a new addition to his house.

We have good water, good neighbors, and if we had good roads we would be all right. We pay taxes to keep up everything but roads, and why not have a road tax. This would be a benefit to everyone and especially to the farmers.

Health.

Means the ability to do a good day's work without undue fatigue and to find life worth living. You cannot have indigestion or constipation without its operating the liver and polluting the blood. Such a condition may be best and quickest obtained by Herbine, the best liver regulator that the world has ever known. Mrs. D. W. Smith writes, April 1, 1902: "I use Herbine, and find it the best medicine for constipation and regulating the liver I ever used." Price 50 cents. Sold by Woods & Orme.

Railroad Wreck.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 16.—The Florida Limited on the Western and Atlantic railroad, southbound, was wrecked eight miles from this city just before noon today, resulting from the breaking of an axle. The cars were overturned and twelve persons were injured, among them Mrs. Foster Threlkeld, of Tolu, whose face and head was seriously cut.

The train, which was one hour and twenty minutes late, was running at a high speed. It carried a full complement of passengers, including many from Chicago, Cincinnati and Western cities. The news was telephoned to the city, and a wrecking train was immediately sent to the scene with physicians.

Croup

Begins with the symptoms of a common cold: there is chilliness, sneezing, sore throat, hot skin, quick pulse, hoarseness and impeded respiration. Give frequent small doses of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, (the child will cry for it) and at the first sound of a croupy cough, apply frequently Ballard's Snow Liniment to the throat.

Mrs. A. Vile, New Castle, Colo., writes, March 19th, 1901: "I think Ballard's Horehound Syrup a wonderful remedy, and so pleasant." 25c, 50c, and $1.00. Sold by Woods & Orme.

LABOR A BLESSING.

It is a sad thing that the majority of mankind are coming to think more and more that labor is a curse, when it is designed of God to be one of the greatest of helps and blessings in rising above the curse. This evil thinking takes away all joy in working, the highest joy one can find, if the work be right. He has never yet learned to live who finds no joy in legitimate labor. Wages are necessary and should always be just, but greater joy should be in the doing of the work itself, in the growing mind and skill, and greater effectiveness. It is a low view of labor that sees only the wage at the end of the day, week or month however necessary it may be to wife and children.

Another Case of Rheumatism Cured by Chamberlain's Pain Balm.

The efficacy of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the relief of rheumatism is being demonstrated daily. WHEN I AM OLD.

BY O. G. W.

"Let soul and arm our shape that will abide,
And rule above our graves,
Come, let us fashion acts that are to be
When we shall lie in darkness
Silently."
—George Eliot.

When I am dead,
And silent lie low in my narrow bed,
I ask not that the world shed tears,
And raise o'er me a monument of stone;

But this I pray
That men shall truly say,
He was a man!

His heart was warm and true;
And in this earthly life of ours
He did a noble part.

To soothe sad sorrow's heart,—
To heal the sick,
And cure the bitter smart
Of sin and pain;

He was a man,
And did what manhood could
To make sublimely real our dream of good,—

This be my epitaph,
And this alone.
Written on human hearts,
Not carved on crumbling stone.

"OLD BILL" DEAD.

C. E. Doss and his family are grieving over the loss of their valuable old family horse "Old Bill." He had been in the family so long and was so trusty and dependable that all the family were brought to tears when they saw he was dying. Mr. Doss had a nice bed of straw made for him, and when he breathed his last he was hauled away in a wagon to the farm and buried just like "folks," and a tree planted at the head of the grave to mark the spot. Such attention to an old, faithful family animal shows the big heart, which has always been one of Mr. Doss' characteristics.

Uncle Bill Smith is still able to come Tiline, though he is old and feeble. He is one of our best citizens and we are always glad to see him. Many a poor man has found him a friend in time of need.

Squire Charles has moved to the furnace pond place; he is a hustling magistrate.

The Tiline band is out of sight from the fact that most of the boys are gone.

Regardless of the close times our people are cheerful and happy and peace prevails.

ENTERPRISE, INGENUITY AND ORIGINALITY.

Say something against Lax Pos in the presence of those who have taken it and you'll be sorry. Every person using Lax Pos will tell you an interesting story of how it cured them.

Lax Pos is the very latest example of medical enterprise, ingenuity and originality. Those who have been sick, and others, say, Lax Pos is the best medicine made. To make it a little better than any other remedy even though it cost more is an investment and not an expense to the S. B. Winstead Medicine Co. No advertisement is equal to having people say Lax Pos is the best. To succeed in any business give the consumer more than "you" promise. That is done in Lax Pos. It cures indigestion, constipation, kidney and liver trouble. Its good effects are felt at once. Take no substitute. The genuine is sold at the money back plan by druggists everywhere.

Hubert Burton has never recovered his health since having the measles.

Winifred King, who left here several days ago is now in Pine Bluff, Ark.

Mrs Jim Baker, who has been very ill for some time, is thought to be improving.

T B Lee and mother, of Arkansas, have been stopping with relatives here since November. Mr. Lee was in very poor health, and came here for medical attention. He has about regained his former robust health and will return to Arkansas in a short time. A man can't remain sick long in Cave-in-Rock.

Allen Barnard, the saloon man, died very suddenly two weeks ago. This was the fourth sudden death in this community in less than two months.

There is a report which seems not entirely unfounded, that the Renfro Brothers and their sister, Mrs C. A. Lee, who live in this and adjoining counties in Illinois, and in Kentucky, Tennessee and Arkansas, have become heirs to a vast estate in England. If the reports be true, each one will receive about a quarter of a million. Mrs. Lee is the mother of Mrs. Dr. Paris.

On the evening of Wednesday, the 17th inst., "Sant" Pruett, the marshal of Elizabethtown, shot and killed John Dewey, a nephew of Al Dewey of Marion. According to current rumor it was a wilful and unprovoked murder. It occurred in Ed. Rose's saloon. Pruett was under the influence of liquor, of course. That goes with out saying. Another demonstration of the great benefit of saloons.

COAL

COAL!

The best coal on the market 9c per bushel at the yard or 10c per bushel delivered in town 20 bushels and over; less than 20 bushels 9c at the car and 20c for delivery.

Our competitor, Prof. Sutherland, claimed that he brought the price of coal down when he started in the coal business last fall. Just about the time he started in coal went off a cent on the bushel in the market, and he claimed he was the cause of it. Now it is off another cent and the Professor says we are trying to freeze him out; says he can't sell his coal at 10c per bushel. WELL, WE CAN. Our prices are governed by the market, not by local conditions. We always give our customers the advantage of a decline, and when the price goes up we raise the price accordingly.

We expect in the spring to put in a New Fairbanks Scale of greater capacity, so the haulers can bring as big loads as they wish. Thanking one and all for past patronage and soliciting the same in the future, we are your friends.
